WHEN IS A CHRISTIAN NOT A CHRISTIAN?

"The war is over—let's forget and forgive." This is the general slogan one hears universally. England has recognized Russia and is even doing business with Germany. Yet in spite of this fact there are still narrow-minded, bigoted, prejudiced people who cannot forget and who will not forgive. They live in the wee, small confines of their memory. They do not permit the light of reason or common sense or even pity to affect them.

The following letter which appeared recently in a Toronto paper, we regard as a typical "size-up" of this attitude of narrow-mindedness.

Toronto, January 16, 1924.

My Dear Dr. B.:

Your appeal for "American Aid for German Medical Science" falls on ears that are stone deaf. I was in the Canadian Expeditionary Force for six years, less seven days, and saw too much of the Boche ever to forget it. The Christian duty of forgiveness lies only to the repentant. They are absolutely unrepentant.

Thyssen, Stinnes and the other Jews in Germany have lots of money with which to help their fellow-citizens. It is up to them. From me not a dollar.

Yours faithfully,

J. T. FOTHERINGHAM.

And yet the writer of the letter calls himself a Christian and a Canadian.

The above letter is a reply to an appeal sent out by the American Committee for the Aid of German Medical Science, which consists of the leading American physicians, who have been raising funds to help the German physicians, students, retired teachers and scientists, scientific medical institutions, medical libraries, widows and orphans of physicians. The appeal which has been sent to physicians in United States and Canada and which called forth the laconic reply of Dr. Fotheringham reads in part as follows:

"Assistance is imperative. Our German colleagues are in many instances in desperate straits. There is a total breakdown of the economic system, and with it intense suffering among the professional classes. Our political opinions or feelings of antagonism produced by the war must not blind us to our responsibility. We must make our gift really representative of American medicine."

The doctor was not content with this reply to the American Committee. He also sent a scathing letter to the editor of the the student body for collecting funds to aid German and other European students. He received his deserved rebuke from the students who proved to be real Canadians.

Dr. Fotheringham may be a good physician, but the attitude revealed in his reply would indicate that he is not a good Christian, and an anti-Semite to boot. Since the doctor quotes theology, why does he ignore the commandment of Jesus, "to love your enemies." But perhaps the doctor regards this commandment as an interpolation into Christian teachings. Since when does it become or behoove one who calls himself a Christian, to hate?

The doctor is an anti-Semite of the common garden variety. He is so blinded by prejudice against the Jew for some reason—which we hope is not personal—that at the first provocation he permits his colossal ignorance to mislead him into calling Thyssen and Stinnes Jews. Neither gentleman happens to be a Jew. Nor are the other rich German capitalists and industrialists Jews. It is true that the only man who might have saved Germany was a Jew—Walter Rathenau. But see what they did to him! The anti-Semite Monarchist Prussian gang who misled the German people, ruined Germany and brought about the war, deliberately assassinated and killed Rathenau in cold blood. Why? Because, as they confessed at the mock trial that was held, he was a Jew. We recommend to the doctor the attitude of Rathenau's mother a typical Jewess—toward the assassins at the trial, as an example of Jewish mercy and forgiveness. At her request the lives of the murderers were spared, for she said she did not believe in "a life for a life" since nothing could restore her son and Germany's possible saviour to life again.

Maximilian Harden, the converted Jew who lived as a Christian for forty years and who denounced the Kaiser and Prussianism during and after the war, who was hailed outside of Germany as a democrat and friend of the Allies, was shot and wounded by this same gang. Why? For being a Jew.

Anti-Semitism drove the Jew Albert Einstein, the greatest living scientist, from his professorial position in Germany and made him a wandering as well as a wondering Jew. Why? Because he is a Jew.

It would appear as if Dr. Fotheringham has more in common with the German anti-Semites than he has with those Canadians who believe in justice and practice the square deal, or with genuine Christians who not only prate about but practice love and mercy. When, O God, we ask, will this business of hatred and prejudice, which is so rampant,

As for Dr. Fotheringham and his kind, we invoke the dying words of Jesus: "Forgive them, O Father, for they know not what they do."

CONGRATULATIONS—RABBI HERBERT SAMUEL

We wish to join with the Winnipeg Jewish community in extending to Rabbi Herbert J. Samuel, B.A., and the congregation Shaarey Zedek our heartiest congratulations on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the happy union between the Rabbi and the congregation.

Ten years is a long time when one considers the comparative youth of the Jews in Canada. Ten years is also a long span as unions go, between a Rabbi and congregation.

Rabbi Samuel is the ideal type of Canadian Jewish religious leader. In him are combined Jewish scholarship and general culture. He has steered a middle course between ultra orthodoxy and ultra reform. He stands for the retention of all that is best in traditional Judaism, harmonized with modern culture and science. In this respect he is helping to fashion for his community a Canadian Judaism that will appeal to the growing sensation of native-born Canadians, as well as to the more modernized among the older generation of immigrants who still retain fond memories of the old-world Judaism.

Rabbi Samuel has not been content to be merely the leader of his particular congregation, but he has also taken a leading part in all the communal undertakings of Winnipeg Jewry on which he has stamped his persuasive, yet not domineering, personality. Nothing Jewish in Winnipeg, and for that matter in Jewry, has been foreign to him. As a result he is beloved by "uptown and downtown" alike. But these functions alone do not exhaust the activities of the modern Rabbi. Living as we do in the midst of a non-Jewish population, it becomes most essential to interpret the Jew to the non-Jew, as well as the non-Jew to the Jew. Rabbi Samuel has been the liaison officer- "the Jewish ambassador to the Goyim" in his community. He has the distinction of being the chaplain of the Canadian Club of Winnipeg, and on all state occasions has represented the Jewish community with dignity and honour.

To Rabbi Samuel we say, "Y'yasher koach rak chazak v'emotz" —"Be strong and of good courage."

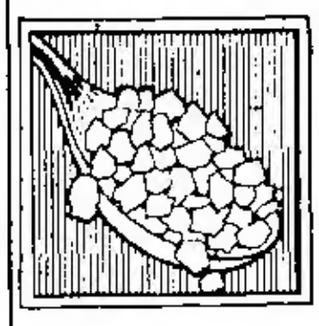
The Purim get-together of March 23 was evidence of the work of the Ladies' Auxiliary. Rabbi Berger, assisted by the reception committee, Mrs. J. Berger, Mrs. Goldner, Mrs. Bacal, and Mrs. Baltiel, received the guests. The guest



"Yes, I do my own dishes, but—

MY hands don't show it. That's because I use Lux for dish-washing."

Thousands of women are discovering this new use for an old familiar friend. They didn't have to go out and try something new. They knew how splendid Lux is for dainty fabrics—and they have discovered how splendid it can be for washing dishes.

One teaspoonful to each dishwashing—each package holds sufficient for 54 dishwashings.

Lux is so pure that it does not redden the hands. Strong soap makes dainty hands rough and coarse in a very short time, but Lux preserves the smooth, satiny touch that Nature intended Beauty's hands to have.

Sold only in sealed packets—dustproof!

"Sometimes when people censure me,
I tell them without rancour
That for what it cost me to be free
I might have had an anchor."

The late director-general of the Canadian Army Medical Corps, Dr. J. T. Fotheringham, answering an appeal for aid for German medical science, for relief to the widows and orphans of German physicians, magnanimously replied with curses: "From me not a dollar. Let Thyssen, Stinnes and other rich Jews in Germany look after their fellow-citizens." So far, so good. But lest we had forgotten the importance of the late director-general or the enormity of his sacrifice in his "six years less seven days' service in the C.E.F.," he hastened to mail his reply to the daily, weekly and monthly press. It was to be an inspiration and encouragement to other members of the faculty of the University of Toronto, who, unlike the majority of their colleagues, had not so far forgotten themselves as to consider German science worthy of rehabilitation and German sufferers deserving of succour. Gen. Fotheringham we know to be an old man, and from his letter, obviously in his dotage. Thyssen and Stinnes are not Jews, and a younger man, with his training, could scarcely have committed in public a faux pas which the slightest disinterested investigation would have prevented. The interesting and amusing, but pathetic feature of the letter is the naïveté of the pompous junker who sees a difference between the nationalistic bigotry of a Prussian and his own. The good general, when appealed to as an American surgeon and one who had taken the Hippocratic oath of the doctor of all ages and all lands to aid the suffering regardless of creed or race, like the valiant warrior that he is (with six years less seven days' service in the danger zones of London and its precincts and the base in France) replies: "I have seen all of the Boche I want to see." His antipathy to the Boche is puzzlingly inconsistent, considering his two years' post-war service, but then the mental meanderings of the "Brass Hat" are too well known to provoke surprise. Anger and contempt they have provoked often enough in the men under him who saw the Boche from the front-line trenches. These men, despite that, have not seen too much of the Boche to desist from re-establishing him in his laboratory and from lending aid to his widow and orphans. Our junker friend with the jingling of spurs and the clanking of his unused sword, rusted in London fogs, protests against "maudlin sentiment." German prisoners in cages and their wounded in his hospitals may have been frightened, but we know him and his tribe too well. We know, also, that science, humanity, love of truth for its own sake, are also above and beyond him—"maudlin sentiment." Only we regret a little, the sorry spectacle of old age in its decline, reverting again to the spurs, sword and helmet of childhood days, again playing soldiers, shouting in a voice now cracked: "Am I not wonderful?" "H."

With a sprightly but rather heavy hand the editor of the "Canadian Jewish Chronicle," habitat Montreal, dedicates to us personally almost half a column of flattering editorial in the touching belief that we are the one constant reader of its weekly output of editorials. This nonplusses us painfully, but only for a moment. It is never our direct purpose to be hard on any person, but on the other hand, as the tag of the prophylactic hand-brush says, "there is a high compulsion, which lofty souls recognize, to bear witness to the truth wherever found." That we are a lofty soul goes without saying, so to bear witness to the truth we must admit that we are not a constant reader of the "Chronicle" nor of anything else, not even of this perfect thing delivered every Friday. Modesty, too, demands that we renounce the distinction bestowed by the Montreal editor. We will say, though, that whenever we have read the "Chronicle's" editorials, we have sometimes found them instructive and never wholly unamusing.

DR. BENJAMIN LEWIN LECTURES HERE

Dr. Benjamin Lewin, of Haifa, Palestine, a profound Hebrew scholar in the field of Jewish literature, who is visiting his niece, Mrs. J. Ginsburg, and Mr Ginsburg, occupied the pulpit of King Edward Avenue Synagogue on Friday evening, and on Saturday afternoon addressed the congregation of Rideau Street Synagogue. On Friday evening he was introduced by Rabbi M. J. Mintz, who will occupy the pulpit as usual this Friday evening, and on Saturday morning will commence his young people's services. Dr. Lewin, who is making a quick tour through Canada and the United States in an effort to obtain assistance in compiling and bringing to print an encyclopaedia of Gaonic literature, told of the Gaonic period in Jewish literature which comprises a period of some four hundred and fifty years following immediately on the period of the Talmudists. He described fully his antique discoveries of manuscripts at the Geniza libraries in Cairo, Egypt where he cleared up hundreds and hundreds of hazy and difficult points in Talmudic literature by original manuscripts of the Gaonim. He touched briefly on his experience at the Vatican and at the universities of Oxford and Cambridge.

PEREZ HIRSHBEIN ADDRESSES JEWISH PEOPLE'S INSTITUTE

Perez Hirshbein, famous in modern Jewish letters as a dramatist and writer, lectured before the Jewish People's Institute, Thursday and Friday evenings. On Thursday evening the speaker dealt chiefly with Jewish legendary and folk lore. He explained how the people created their own legends of Biblical characters—quite new and distinct from the narrative as in the Bible—and quoted many examples. "Literature and Light" was the subject chosen for Friday night. On both occasions the speaker was introduced by Mr. H. Simonoff, the president, who occupied the chair. A banquet in honour of the visitor followed, attended by the members and friends of the local branch of the Jewish Workers Alliance under whose auspices the lectures were held.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. S. Katz, 232 Daly Avenue, for the bar-mitzvah of their eldest son, Lionel, which will be held at their residence during the week-end. The confirmation service will be conducted by Rabbi Mintz, at the King Edward Avenue Synagogue, Saturday morning.
